- G. Sick days may be used during the 14-calendar-day waiting period before short term disability takes effect for employees on the Group Insurance plan. During the waiting period, payment will be made only for the number of sick days accumulated.

ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE

I. Policies

A. Non-Discrimination Policy

1. To provide equal employment opportunities to all individuals, employment decisions at Briercrest College and Seminary will be based on knowledge, skills, abilities, and any other characteristics and qualifications required by the role. As such, discrimination will not take place. Due to the religious nature of our mission, we have bona fide occupational qualifications as outlined in the Corporate Mission and Objectives – Institutional Covenant.
2. This policy governs all aspects of employment including selection, job assignment, compensation, discipline, and access to benefits and training.
3. Employees with questions or concerns about any type of discrimination in the workplace are encouraged to bring these issues to the attention of their supervisor, the Vice President of their department, or the Director of HR. Employees may raise these concerns without fear of reprisal. Also see the Grievance Procedure in this section.

B. Anti-Harassment Policy

Briercrest College and Seminary will not condone harassment of any kind by employees or directed to employees and will act to provide a safe work environment according to the Anti-Harassment Policy.

C. Sexual Misconduct & Sexual Assault Policy

Briercrest College and Seminary takes complaints of sexual misconduct seriously and will act to provide a safe work environment.

II. Grievance Procedure

- A. Disagreements may occasionally arise between employees including situations where an employee feels a supervisor's decision or disciplinary action affecting them is inappropriate. They are encouraged to work out their differences in a biblical manner. As such, the employee who feels wronged by another employee is responsible to approach that employee about the problem directly. This should be an attempt to bring reconciliation. Note that harassment issues are covered in the Anti-Harassment Policy.
- B. If the problem is not resolved in the initial direct meeting or employees who feel wronged are hesitant to approach a colleague alone, the following process should be followed:
1. Employees who feel wronged should contact their supervisor and/or the Director of HR who will attempt to mediate a resolution between the disputing employees and will include other supervisors and individuals only as needed.
 2. If employees feel there has not been a satisfactory settlement after step 1, they should submit a written grievance to the Vice President responsible for their department. It should explain the situation including action steps that have already been taken and the reasons why they feel the issue has not been resolved satisfactorily. The VP will discuss the grievance with them to arrive at a resolution.
 3. If employees still feel their concerns are unresolved after step 2, the next step is a written grievance to the President, with a copy to the Vice President, who will review the issue with the employee and the VP. The President may involve the Executive Leadership Team and/or others as deemed necessary and appropriate and will respond to the situation.

- C. In addition to the above-mentioned employee disputes, employees should not hesitate to contact their supervisor or the Director of HR to discuss any of their questions or concerns, whether it is an employment related issue or any other aspect of the Briercrest College and Seminary ministry.
 - 1. It is appropriate to respectfully discuss it with an employee in leadership who can direct the inquiry to the proper place if necessary. In many cases, discussing the question and receiving more information results in a satisfactory conclusion. If not, the above Grievance Procedure should be followed.
 - 2. It is not appropriate to remain quiet and become disillusioned or bitter, or to talk about the issue with other individuals who are not involved with it.
- D. Employees may present a grievance or take part in a grievance review without fear of reprisal.

III. Health & Safety

A. Occupational Health and Safety Committee

- 1. There is an OHAS Committee comprised of both workers and managers. Several meetings are held each year with the minutes posted on the HR Office bulletin board and on The Hub. Current committee members are listed on the minutes.
- 2. The committee functions to monitor the workplace and ensure that potential safety concerns are rectified. Complete annual safety inspections are conducted on all Briercrest buildings.
- 3. All employees must share the responsibility of creating and maintaining a safe work environment by following safe work practices. In addition, safety concerns should be communicated to employees' supervisors. If the concerns are not resolved quickly, they should be presented to one of the OHAS committee members.

B. Accident or Injury

- 1. All accidents or injuries that happen at work must be reported to the employee's supervisor even if the employee does not have to miss any work time. Proper documentation is imperative in case there is a future complication and need for an insurance claim.
 - i. Supervisors are required to fill out an incident report available from the HR office
 - ii. Employees are required to provide a written statement

2. A disability resulting from an accident or injury at work is covered by Worker's Compensation. If the accident or injury is not work related, the benefit is provided by the Group Insurance plan according to the current eligibility requirements.

C. Ergonomics

1. Employees who work at a desk and/or use a computer must be careful to avoid health related problems such as eyestrain, carpal tunnel, and tendonitis. Many of us think this won't happen to us but ergonomic related injuries are the fastest growing occupational health problem. Briercrest employees are also being affected by these injuries.
2. Hazards can exist in the design of the workplace, the workstation, tools, equipment, and the workflow. Ergonomics is concerned with identifying and controlling these hazards by reducing the physical, environmental, and mental stresses associated with a job.
3. The following websites provide excellent information for office and computer ergonomics as well as many other safety topics:
